Freude, schöner Götterfunken,
Töchter aus Elysium,
Wir betreten feurertrunken,
Himmlische, dein Heiligtum!
Deine Zauber binden wieder,
Was die Mode streng geteilt;
Alle Menschen werden Brüder,
Wo dein sanfter Flügel weilt.

Beethoven's Ninth Symphony
(von Schiller's Ode to Joy)

Praise to joy, God's descendant,
Daughter of Elisium,
Ray of mirth and rapture blended,
Goddess to thy shrine we come,
By thy Magic is united,
What stern custom divides;
All Men become Brothers,
Underneath thy joyous wings.
Laus Deo!

Dedication

The Senior class would like to take this opportunity to recognize an outstanding member of the Hackley Community. Since he first arrived at Hackley in 1949 he has dedicated his life to learning as well as teaching. His love of nature and the wonders of life have made him a fascinating teacher of Biology and Natural History. In addition to his responsibilities as a teacher he is also the chairman of the Science Department and the Assistant Director of the Upperschool. He guides us, but when we go astray he steers us back on coarse with discipline. We realize what a difficult job this is and we commend him for his fairness and firmness.

At the end of this year, his thirty-fifth, he will retire with his wife to a house on Cape Coo. There he will be free to enjoy his lifelong hobby, bird watching. He is loved and respected by all of us at Hackley, and we will truly miss him.

And so it is with great pleasures that the Senior class dedicates the 1984 Hilltop to Mr. Arthur King.

UNDERCLASS FOLK

January, 1967 was a busy month. Latin America's largest suspension bridge opened in Venezuela, while the first all Negro government in the Bahamas was established. The first U.S. Secretary of Transportation was Alan Boyd. Eight communications satellites were launched by a Titan-3C rocket at Cape Kennedy, and ESSA was launched on the 26th. Tragedy struck on January 27, when the first U.S. space disaster occurred. A flash fire inside Apollo II spacecraft killed Lt. Colonels Virgil Grissom, Edward H. White II, and Navy Lt. Commander Roger B. Chaffee during a test at Cape Kennedy.

On February fourth, Lunar Orbiter III was launched to the moon from Cape Kennedy. The Four Day Truce in Vietnam took place from February 8 to February 12. A treaty banning nuclear arms from Latin America was signed by 14 countries in Mexico City.

1968 was a year of war in Vietnam. At the beginning of the year, a New Year's cease fire held with little violation. This shaky relaxation of tensions in Vietnam raised hopes for an end to the conflict in Southeast Asia. However, peace was not to be, at least not at this time. The Communist-backed Viet Cong infiltrated 27 key cities in the South of Vietnam and began an all out coordinated attack, designed to paralyze civil government and overthrow it in the South. Meanwhile the citizens of the cities fought bitterly to regain the government. The South Vietnamese and Americans finally regained the cities, at the cost of 20,000 lives. During the peace talks in Paris, the conflict intensified. The war raged on, amid strong anti-war protest among American youth.

1968 was a year of space exploration. On October 11, Walter Schirra, Donn Eisele and R. W. Cunningham went into orbit around Earth for 11 days aboard Apollo VII. From this mission the first live telecast was received from space. Meanwhile, the Soviets put Soyez 3 into orbit, and the race to put a man on the moon intensified. The United States advanced a step closer to this ultimate goal with Apollo VIII, which orbited the Moon for the first time ever between December 21st and 27th, 1968.

Other events of 1968 are also worthy of mention. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy, two important leaders in Civil Rights, were assassinated. The Detroit Tigers won the World Series over the St. Louis Cardinals in the seventh game. The Jets beat the Colts 16 to 7 in the Superbowl, and Montreal won the Stanley Cup.

In 1969, United States astronaut Neil A. Armstrong became the first man to set foot on the Moon. He was the commander of the Apollo 11 mission and was accompanied by Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr. The date was July 20.

Also in July, Senator Edward M. Kennedy plunged off a bridge into a tidal pool at Chappaquiddick Island, Martha's Vineyard, Mass. On July 18, the body of his twenty-eight year old girlfriend was found drowned in the car.

Anti-Vietnam War demonstrations reached their peak in the United States. On November 15, 250,000 people marched in Washington, D.C. Peace talks began on January 18, and the U.S. forces peaked at 543,400 in April. Withdrawal of troops started on July 8. President Nixon set the Vietnamization policy in motion on November third.

The 1969 World Series was won by the New York Mets, of the National League.

In 1970, the Vietnam War entered its second decade. Time Magazine named Willy Brandt, the West German Chancellor, as man of the year. He was the first West German politician to accept the full consequences of defeat in World War II. This included the loss of lands, the admission of moral responsibility, and the acknowledgement of Germany's partition.

In 1970 people began to realize the consequences of environmental degradation. By April 15, fears of herbicides forced the Pentagon to suspend the use of Agent Orange as a chemical defoliant in Vietnam.

In 1971 several interesting events occurred. In the news, a great balance of payment deficits forced the devaluation of U.S. currency. During a Vietnam protest, four students were killed at Kent State. Bangladesh was set up after a war in Pakistan. China joined the U.N. The Conservation Movement argued that continued industrial growth could not develop and still preserve the natural world and resources. Environmentalists predicted the disappearance of natural resources.

In 1971 Science Fiction became very popular with American writers such as Vonnegut, Asimov, and Bradbury. Conceptual art, which communicated through concepts instead of through visual images, became popular. In music, the growth of microelectronics aided the rise of the synthesizer.

The year 1972. President Richard Nixon was re-elected; Olympiad XI took place; the Miami Dolphins were the only undefeated team for the third time in history; the Oakland A's won the World Series; Stan Smith of the U.S. and Billie Jean King, also of the U.S., both walked away with Wimbledon cups for men's and women's singles.

The music of the year was rocked by religion. The songs of Broadway hits such as Godspell, Jesus Christ Superstar and Mass all dealt with religion.

In this year, talents such as Donny Osmond, Michael Jackson, and David Cassidy were on the rise while the Carpenters dominated group of the pop charts.

While the music lighted up the year, terror struck the Olympics at Munich, Germany. Lastly, to end this year, Apollo XVII was launched on December 7, 1972.

1973 was a politically important year. Richard Nixon was President and was involved in the Watergate scandal. Trials began on January 11. On October 10, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned. On December 6, Gerald Ford replaced Agnew.

In January 27 the Vietnam peace pacts were signed in Paris, and the draft ended. The first convention of the National Women's Political Caucus was held from February 9-11. 1973 was also the year that Skylabs I and II were put into space.

In baseball, the Mets won the Pennant, and Oakland won the World Series, beating the New York Mets with a score of 4-3. The Miami Dolphins won the Superbowl, 14-7, against the Washington Redskins.

The most watched television presentations were "Airport" and Superbowl VII. Oscar winners this year were Jack Lemmon (best actor) for "Save the Tiger;" Glenda Jackson (best actress) for "A Touch of Class"; and "The Sting" (best picture).

The year 1974. Most of Hackley's seniors were about 7 or 8 years old. The seniors were in second grade and not very aware of what was happening around them. With the exception of childhood memories, many cannot even remember what went on that year — but a lot did happen.

It was the year of the energy crisis. In January O. J. Simpson rushes for 2,003 yards and later receives NFL Offensive Player of the Year. In that same month, the Miami Dolphins won the Superbowl over the Minnesota Vikings.

In February of '74, Grenada gains independence. Libya seized U.S. oil firms. On February 5th, Patty Hearst was kidnapped; and 3 days later Skylab set a record being in space 84 days, 1 hour and 17 minutes, with 3 astronauts onboard. Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford were elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame and the unforgettable "Blazing Saddles" was released.

In March 7 out of 9 Arab countries lifted the oil embargo, while the streaking fad hits America. People streak through the televised Academy Awards and opening baseball games.

April, 1974 brought the Academy Awards with "The Sting" receiving 7 awards. Hank Aaron breaks Babe Ruth's homerun record of 715 with 740. The movies The Great Gatsby, Mame, and the Three Musketeers are released.

Gisgard d'Estaing becomes Pres. of France in May. India becomes the 6th country to possess nuclear weapons. James Polk and Jack White win the 58th Pulitzer prizes for the Watergate investigations. "The River Niger" received "Best Play" at the Tony awards, while the Philadelphia Flyer won the Stanley cup. Also the world population was recorded as 3.782 billion.

August 9th — 11:35 AM — President Nixon resigns as a result of Watergate 12:03 PM, Gerald Ford sworn in. Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton get divorced. (again)

Jimmy Connors wins the U.S. Open in September while the Nobel Peace Prize goes to Gisako Sato in October.

In December Muhammad Ali was named Fighter of the Year and the movie Black Thursday was released. George Harrison goes on U.S. tour and the new year 1975 is ushered in.

In 1975 many new movies arrived. "The Wiz" and "A Chorus Line" were introduced to Broadway, and both became big successes. Monty Python started to become popular in America, while Sonny and Cher reached the end of their career together.

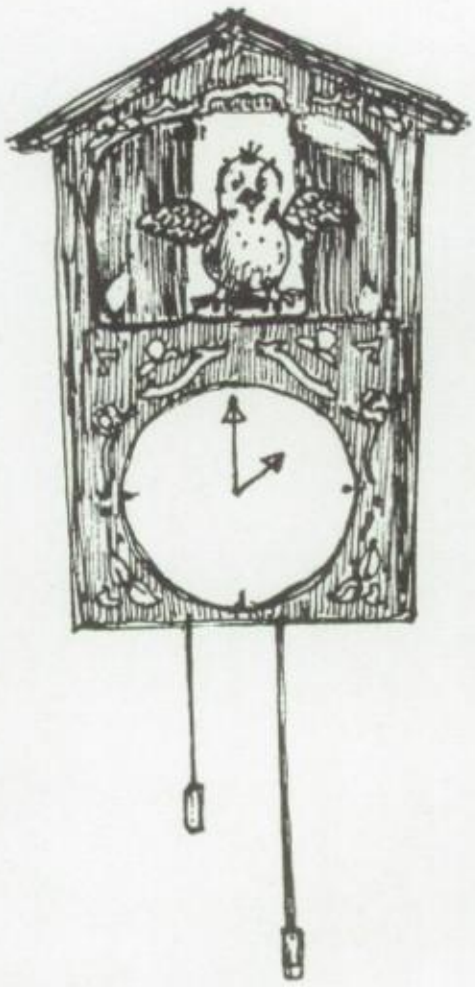
The year 1975 dance popularity exploded. While disco dancing assumed the form of Kung Fu fighting, Rudolf Nureyev and Mikhail Barishnikov took over the ballet scene.

In sports, Jimmy Connors was becoming a tennis star. In soccer, Pele came to America to play for the Cosmos. In hockey, the Islanders won the cup, while in baseball the Red Sox won the World Series. Frisbee emerged as a new popular sport.

During 1975, President Ford turned the economy around, yet in March unemployment rose. In October, Sara Moore made an attempt on the president's life.

Cars this year were much smaller. The Mercury Bobcat and the Honda Civic were most popular cars of 1975.



1976 was a very exciting year. It was the year that former governor of Georgia, Jimmy Carter, became President. In 1976, all Americans happily celebrated our nation's 200th anniversary. In honor of this great milestone, re-enactments of the 1st Fourth of July and the signing of the Constitution were held. Among the memorable films of 1976 was one which sent big waves through Washington. "All the President's Men" which starred Dustin Hoffman and Robert Redford told the story of the two journalists who exposed Watergate to the public. Two of the big horror flicks of 1976 were Carrie and The Omen (the first of the trilogy). Other top movies of the year included Marathon Man, Network, Bugsy Malone, and a remake of King Kong. Those who liked books had quite a selection of best selling to choose from, including Ragtime, The Choirboys, and The Eagle Has Landed. In 1976 dance audiences were captivated by Baryshnikov and Makarova when they performed Swan Lake. Although Rock and Roll was still popular, many were turning to a different kind of music called disco. Among the big groups of 1976 were The Beegees, Wings, Chicago, Kansas, The Who, and many others.

In 1976, a lot was happening on the international scene as well. In Argentina, Isabel Peron came into power after the death of her husband, Juan Peron. In China, Teng Hsiao-p'ing took over the role of Premier after his predecessor, Premier Mao Tse-tung, died. In Lebanon, many people were killed due to the violent civil war. With all the international violence, many countries still united for the 1976 Olympics. In the winter events, America's Dorothy Hamill captured the hearts of thousands when she won a medal for her beautiful ice-skating. In the summer, Bruce Jenner honored America when he won the gold medal for the decathlon. Overall, 1976 was a happy and colorful year for everyone.

The year 1977 saw the second year of the Carter administration. Carter accomplished the start of negotiations between Anwar el-Sadat of Egypt and Menachem Begin of Israel. The talks lasted until mid-1978.

In 1977 the Yankees won the World Series. The NBL wins its sixth straight all-star game. Bjorn Borg wins his fifth straight Wimbledon Title. Susan Perkins, from Ohio, becomes the 57th Miss America.

Deaths in 1977 included Freddie Prinze, Joan Crawford, Elvis Presley, Groucho Marx, Bing Crosby and Charlie Chaplin.

The psychopath Son of Sam left six people dead and seven wounded. A big heat wave struck the country at the end of July, causing the death of many. The first blackout in twelve years occurred on Wednesday, July 13. In September, a flash flood hit Kansas City causing estimated damages of $50 million.

1978 was a year of both extreme bad and extreme good. On the international scene were events such as the mass suicide of 912 people, all under the misplaced faith of Jim Jones; the Panama Canal treaty; the uprising of the revolution and the hostage situation in Iran; and the loss of both Pope Paul VI and Pope John Paul. The United States accomplished great strides in areas of foreign relations, due to Carter's, Begin's and Sadat's efforts at Camp David. The S.A.L.T. treaty with the Soviet Union was also on the brink of success.

On the lighter side of events, 1978 saw the invasion of hundreds of puppets with the airing of "The Muppet Show," which gathered an astounding 235 million viewers weekly. Disco-fever swept through the country due to John Travolta and the "Saturday Night Fever" craze. Also in the world of entertainment was the airing of "Mork and Mindy", the last "Carol Burnett Show", "Grease", "Hair", "Foul Play", "Hooper", and "The Brinks Job." Perhaps the movie classic of the year was the movie about the crazy college life at "Delta" fraternity. To this day "Animal House" still stands as the apex of comedy movies, and will probably never be forgotten.

1978 marked the passing of such famous people as Hubert Humphrey, Senator and ex-Vice President who fought for social justice; Golda Meir, the famous Zionist revolutionary; Norman Rockwell, who spent his life capturing American life onto canvas; Margaret Mead, a pioneering anthropologist; and Edgar Bergen, the man who made puppet Charlie McCarthy come to life for millions of Americans.

In the world of sports Pete Rose broke all records with a 3.5 million dollar contract with Philadelphia, Muhammad Ali regains his world boxing title, Argentina won soccer's coveted World Cup; Bjorn Borg won Victors Cup at Wimbledon; Steve Cauthen rode Affirmed to win the Triple Crown; the Yankees won the World Series, the balloon Double Eagle II made a transatlantic voyage, and the Steelers won the most popular event in sporting history — the Superbowl.

Varsity Field Hockey

Despite the graduation of key lettermen, the varsity field hockey team made a strong showing in the Ivy League. The inexperience of this young team was evident in the early part of the season, for they started off quite slowly. However, by mid-season the girls understood their roles as team members and developed an improved attitude toward teamwork and discipline.

Their progressive growth and consistent efforts enabled them eventually to tie for first in the Ivy League with Horace Mann. Unfortunately, their lack of experience was a major factor in their losing to Horace Mann in the play-off game, a team which they had previously beaten and tied.

The leading scorer for our 7-3-3 season was Evy Craston, who also shared all-Ivy honors with another junior, Lani Roy. Although we all look forward to another winning season next year, we shall certainly miss the leadership of co-captains Pamela Stewart and Shevaun Mackie and enthusiasm of senior Ruth Walter. Under the new leadership of co-captains Evy Craston and Maria Giovanelli, next year's team hopes to go one step further by winning the Ivy League title.

Ms. Morgan, P. Stewart, E. Craston, R. Walter, S. Roberts, S. Wiltshire, D. Lees, A. Young, M. DeLaive, H. Zimmerman, M. Giovenelli, S. Mackie, C. Cooney, L. Parks, S. Lerner, L. Roy.

The Boy's Varsity Soccer team had a nearly perfect season compiling a 12-2 record and capturing the Ivy League title for the second consecutive year and for the third time in 4 years. The team reached a #7 ranking in Westchester and Putnam counties, again for the second year the highest ranked private school. Hackley's highpoints of the season were a 1-1 tie with public school Edgemont during which they proved they could outplay the #1 ranked public school in the county and the outstanding defensive play of the fullbacks only gave up a record 9 goals in 14 games.

Hackley was led by Senior Co-Captains David Britton and Eric Wechsler. David Britton was named M.V.P. of the league and of the team. Wechsler, a goalie, had both goals against average of .4 goals per game and was named all-league.

The forward line was anchored by the play of All-League player Peter Kim, All-League honorable mention Kaveh Khosrowshahi, J. P. Marra, and Terry Mann. The halfbacks, who were called the best in the league were led by All-league selection David Britton, All-league Ray Wiltshire, All-league Dan MacKenzie, Bill McKean and Jedd Gould. This potent offenses poured in 37 goals in 14 games. The fullbacks led by All-league Farzad Khosrawshahi, All-league honorable mention Josh Chervokas, Collin Manning, C. Sanford, Rich Yaffa and Adam Stein. The team next year will be senior dominated so they look forward to a third consecutive Ivy League title.

The Girls' Soccer Team ended up with an 11-2 record this year. This is the most outstanding record in the history of Girls Soccer at Hackley. Our 2 losses were to Masters, in the very beginning of the season, and to Saddle River in a shootout at the end of the season. These two losses were quite upsetting to the team but made us more determined to come back in later games, as displayed in our second game against Masters where we beat them 5-0.

This was only one of our 8 shutouts. Defensively we let up only 7 goals with Margaret Scarcella in the goal. She could not have done this well without the help of Jane Williams, Mari Howard, and Cris Laguzza, our starting defensive line. Offensively we had just as much strength with our starting forward line consisting of Laura Polsen, Debbie Tillman, Anne Hanrahan, and Laura Hankin. Laura Polsen led the team in goals with 15.6 of these coming from one game agains Storm King. The offensive and defensive line were both supported by the halfbacks Anastasia Vrachros and Amy Slutsky with Margie McNaughton playing defensive sweeper. Because of the strenuous training we had in August the team was able to work extremely well together, but none of this could have been possible without the help of our coach, Mr. Allison.

This year's MVP was Laura Polsen who was also one of our three captains for the '83 season along with Margaret Scarcella and Margie McNaughton. Next year's team looks promising with many upcoming players to fill the places of the seven graduating seniors. Next year's captains are Margie McNaughton and Anne Hanrahan.

From Back to Front: L. Hankin, J. Feldner, R. Ghavami, M. McNaughton, C. Laguzza, S. Snyder, A. Slutsky, L. Polson, D. Tillman, A. Vrachnos, S. Scheveloff, S. Finegold, M. Howard, J. Williams, A. Hanrahan, H. Tavakol, M. Scarcella, K. Ostreich, S. Stern, A. Thompson.

The varsity football team, despite a record of four wins and four losses, enjoyed considerable success in what was perhaps one of its most challenging seasons. With just fourteen returning seniors and juniors, the team was confronted by a lack of depth and experience, particularly on the offensive and defensive lines. Several of the eighteen sophomores on the squad saw considerable action. Also, the schedule was a difficult one with tough Ivy League rivals Poly Prep and Riverdale, as well as two Class-B public schools: Brewster and Tappan Zee.

The team got off to a surprisingly strong start with three straight wins. On opening day against McBurney, the Hornets used a special trick play with juniors Herb Allen and Robert Hawkins connecting for a quick touchdown. Then the Hornet defense shutout the powerful McBurney offense for a 16-0 win. This upset victory ended the Manhattan school's two-year, seventeen-game winning streak. After an easy win over Salisbury School of Connecticut, the team next avenged two straight losses to Horace Mann with a convincing 29-12 victory in the mud. Senior fullback Eric Williams controlled the ball on the ground, and quarterback Jeff Fernholz passed for two touchdowns.

With a 3-0 record, the team next faced undefeated Ivy rivals Poly Prep and Riverdale on consecutive weekends. Against Poly Prep the Hornet defensive front, led by Eric Williams, Bruce Bridges, John Mackie and Jeff Fernholz, shut down the strong Poly ground game. However, Hackley was faced with poor field position all day and could not generate any offensive threat. Unfortunately, an errant center snap on a Hornet punt resulted in a safety and a disheartening 2-0 loss to Poly. Seemingly unable to rebound from this loss, the Hornets made too many mistakes against a strong Riverdale team and lost, 32-0.

After increasing its record to 4-2 with a win over St. Dominic's from Long Island, the team finished the season against public schools Brewster and Tappan Zee. The Hornet defense continued to play well against both of these stronger and bigger opponents. The Hackley offense, unable to run the ball, passed very effectively. Quarterback Jeff Fernholz received excellent pass protection as he connected with his two primary receivers, juniors Herb Allen and Robert Hawkins. Both games ended in narrow losses of 18-16 to Brewster and 17-12 to Tappan Zee after valiant come-back attempts by the Hornets.

The Hackley Cross Country team finished the season with a somewhat disappointing 4-10 record. It was clear that the loss thru graduation, of the experienced runners from the year before affected the team's performance. With rookie Chuck Parker being the lone senior on this year's team, the team had to rely on the strong running of juniors Dave Vollweiler and Doug Chu. Sophomores Jill Vollweiler, Marcus Consolini, Eric Tappert, Mark Silverman, and Gian-Carlo Vellutino also added solid performances.

Highlights of the season included the new school record set on Hackley's course by Dave Vollweiler. Dave's sister Jill Vollweiler was also very successful as she became the Ivy League Woman's Champion by winning the women's race at the league championships. Since both Dave and Jill will return next year as well as almost the complete 1983 team, the future of the Hackley Cross Country team looks bright!

Swimming

The Hackley swim team finished the year with another impressive season. The team's overall record of 9 wins and 2 losses (including girls meets) was one of the best it had ever enjoyed. Columbia Prep, a team which had beaten Hackley by one point exactly one year ago, was handed a vengeful defeat in the team's first meet. Hackley won by a score of 114-57!

After this opening day victory, Coach Allison predicted that only Horace Mann lay between Hackley and the Ivy League title. Unfortunately, his word proved true. After a short-lived "undefeated season" of one week, Hackley suffered its worst loss ever. Horace Mann won by a score of 97 to 75.

A sound lecture and renewed spirits brought the predominantly young team back to its original form, and they went on to defeat McBurney 117-42. In the following week, Hackley made three trips into New York City to assert its swimming prowess. The meets resulted as follows: Hackley 112 — Trinity 60, Hackley 117 — Riverdale 66, and Hackley 42 — Poly Prep 41. The latter meet took place on Saturday with a particularly hostile Poly Prep crowd on hand to witness the season's toughest meet. It went right down to the last relay, with Takao Hensch coming from behind to finish the last leg of his relay just seconds ahead of the Poly Prep team.

Coming into the Ivy League Championships, Horace Mann had a decided edge, which they upheld. Hackley, however, did not give up, coming in second place just 2 points ahead of Poly. Many individuals made an impressive showing by receiving All League honors. They were Bruce Dunbar, Rob Silverman, Takao Hensch, Kent Morris, Greg Ahearn, Bill McKean, and Russ Ronson. 2 swimmers went on to the Eastern Swim Championships after the season had officially ended. Bruce Dunbar, who finished another outstanding year, placed fifteenth out of thirty in the 500 freestyle, breaking his own school record by 3 seconds. Freshman diving sensation Robert Silverman captured second place in the east and broke the long-standing 13 year diving record held by John Melkonian.

Although sad to see the seniors leave, Coach Allison feels that the many returning swimmers, headed by Captains Bruce Dunbar and Maria Giovannelli, will doubtless capture next year's Ivy League crown.

Ivy league champions. Two thousand points. Runner-up in the post-season tournament. Fire (?) at Victoria Station. Ice cream on Cardillo's rug. What a season! What a year! What a team!

Captain Margaret Scarcella finished a brilliant four year career with two thousand points. This makes her the second all-time scorer in Westchester County. Mawg was chosen for both the All-county and Ivy league All-star teams. Her high game for this year was against Horace Mann when she scored forty-two points. Few athletes at Hackley, or any school, have dominated the game as Mawg did.

Another senior, Ruth Walter, started out the season with the infamous "Spaz jump shot" but improved her play to such an extent that she was pulling down fifteen rebounds a game and was selected to the Ivy league All-star team as well. With or without sneakers, Ruth intimidated opponents with her determination and enthusiasm.

The do-anything-to-win-but-break-a-fingernail seniors were Jane Shibetti who took control of the floor at point guard near the end of the season and Jackie Stern who earned her feared reputation as "the enforcer" against Woodmere Academy.

Haleh Tavakol sparked the team through the final stretch after a brief sabbatical while Jane Williams consistently plugged the holes when needed.

Next year's team will look to Evy Craston, the scoring machine. This year, she took up the slack when opponents were triple-teaming Mawg. Hustling Loni Roy should also do well if she can learn to catch the ball with her hands not her head and if she learns a new chant replacing a well-worn Roxanne (!). Returning to control the backboards will be Mandy Tavakol, a fiercely aggressive player with a mean foul shot.

The lone freshman was Anastasia Vrachnos. Her fast-hands defense and fast-breaking offense burned many opponents.

The team managers — ever ready with cookies, stats, and music — were Kavah Khosrowshahi and Tim Pachonka.

The season finished at 15-3. What a team! What a year!

Men's Basketball

The 1983-84 Men's Varsity basketball team completed its season with a record of 10 wins and 11 losses. The 10 victories are the most victories the team has achieved since 1978. For the first time in years, the Hackley Basketball program was competitive in the tough NYC based Ivy league. Key victories over Collegiate (before an enthusiastic and supportive crowd), Berkly and Parker Collegiate highlighted the season. Because of overwhelming response to the Friday night games, they are now becoming a Hackley tradition.

This year's MVP was co-captain Tom Anglero. He was top scorer and rebounder. He also was selected all league for the third year in a row and he received an all county honorable mention. He led the team in scoring and rebounding. He had over 700 points and 400 rebounds throughout his career at Hackley. Eric Williams, the other co-captain, was also all league for his second year in a row. Eric finished his time on the team with over 400 points. Other key contributors included 3 year letterman Dave Britton and junior Kevin Dames.

Tom Dodd, another junior, tallied the most assists. The best defensive player was Herb Allen and Most Improved was Robert Hawkins. The 1984-85 season looks promising if the returning players can fill the high top sneakers of seniors Tom Anglero, Eric Williams, Dave Britton, and Steve Feldschuh.

Wrestling

The wrestling team had another enjoyable but not altogether successful season. Having many young fighters, the team on a whole did not fare well. Veterans Jedd Gould and Peter Loehr scored well on many reputable opponents while newcomers Marcus Consolini and David Volweiler destroyed many good fighters. Eric Tappert and Damon Ploumis were very strong. They both placed very well in the Fairchester League tournament. The team is expected to do very well next year now that there is experience behind it.

Softball

The 1984 Softball team had a fantastic season that is illustrated by its record of seven wins and four losses. Coached by Miss Cardillo and Mr. Van Leer, the team started slowly but gained power losing only to schools like Poly Prep who live and die for softball. Captain Margaret Scarcella was MVP this year. She demonstrated all around ability and led the team to victories. Kate Haje, the hardworking first basewoman, dedicated much time and effort to softball. Pitcher Anne Hanrahan did a good job for the team too.

By the books, the girl's lacrosse team had a somewhat disappointing season ending up with a record of four wins and seven losses. Yet there was a time when Mr. Nelson thought we would not even win a game. We began the season by losing four games in a row to Edgemont, Horace Greely, Greenwich Academy and Dwight Englewood, all strong lacrosse schools. But then we began to come back by beating archrival Masters (the baters) in a close match and blowing away Riverdale, Sacred Heart and Rye Country Day. Unfortunately in that time period we also lost to the powerful public school, Scarsdale, by a large margin. We finished the season by losing to Byram Hills and Rye high school, both public schools. The fact that we managed to compete in a strong league is commendable. We did well against schools that were closer to our size.

Although the team is losing seven seniors, it will be strong next year. We will still have Anastasia Vrachnos, offense's secret weapon. We will certainly miss co-captain Ruth Walter this year's MVP who was known for her killer instincts on defense and her frequent head injuries. She was selected all association along with 2nd high scorer, Evy Craston. The team will also miss Pam Stewart who had some key goals and Anne Rudden who was tough on offense. Co-captain Jackie Stern will be missed for her dexterity at push-ups and her skill at leading warm ups (although she sometimes had trouble counting). She was good on offense and 3rd highest scorer. Betsy Sugahara was a "nice surprise" on defense and astonished us with her ability to stick with her girl. Mari Howard and Amy Slutsky were also always there when we needed them. First year player Laura Polson had many important goals and was a key member of the midfield. Next year's captains are Sally Roberts and Lani Roy, both "bruisers" on defense.

The 1984 Boy's lacrosse team won fifteen games and lost only one, romping over private and public schools. Their one loss was to Rye Country Day school. The team outscored all its opponents by 147 to 51 goals. One of the tri-captains, junior Herb Allen was MVP this year. Herb had 28 goals, 36 assists and 63 ground balls. Dave Britton, another tri-captain, was outstanding for winning 60% of all his faceoffs. He had 18 goals, 17 assists and 108 ground balls. Another outstanding player was junior Robert Hawkins. In his last five games, he made 17 goals. Overall, he made 27 goals and 11 assists. Most Improved was Gerhart Windenburg. He had 22 goals, 6 assists and 57 ground balls. Best defenseman with 68 groundballs was Kaveh Khosrowshahi. Also good on defense was "Mr. Consistent", Farzad Khosrowchahi. Goalie C. Sanford played well for the team; he had one shutout and let in only about 2 goals per game. The back up goalie was Steve Nikolits. Some strong young players were Jim "Crusher" Rudden, Bill McKean (6 goals and 2 assists) and defenseman Adam Stern.

Led by dedicated coaches Davis and Miller, the enthusiastic, hardworking baseball team finished with a record of seven wins and seven losses. They were, however, five and four in the Ivy league which made them third in the league overall. This year's MVP is Scott Perlman who pitched, and had a batting average of .536. Captain Tom Anglero batted .500, and J. P. Marra, who was selected all league and was the leading hitter and scorer, batted .460. Strong performances by Ron Gerber (the catcher), Stephan Williman and Jeff Fernholz were noted. The team was aided by Eric Biers also. Underclassmen John Mackie, Jed Gould, Mark Ohm and Russ Ronson provided the backbone for the team.

Women's Tennis

This year's Women's varsity tennis whose record will remain unknown finished another interesting season. Fearlessly led by Coach Wendy Beattie, the girls may not have won every game but agreed that it was an enjoyable season. The co-captains were 3rd singles Amanda Baten and 2nd singles Shevaun Mackie. Shevaun has been MVP for the last two years. Although Shevaun, Anne Young and Donna Bress are leaving, this young team has great aspirations for next year.

Men's Tennis

The Boys' tennis team was successful, compiling a seven wins and five losses record. This year's MVP was Brandon Carrey. Good performances by Rich Yaffa and Eric Wechsler also made the team strong. Although the team is losing Rich, Brandon, and Eric, Terry Mann, Takao Hensch and Sid Barghava, no one is worried because there are many underclassmen waiting to take their places. Staying for next year's team are Ray Wiltshire, Mike Cohen, Mark Anstendig, John Albright, Tim Chia and Dan Englander.

Hackely's Council of 1983-84 led an incredibly productive year for the school. Led by President, Ruth Walter, the staff worked hard to organize many social and fund-raising events for the student body. The council ran such events as Trip Day, two dances, candy cane and carnation sales, and the annual fast day which helps raise funds for Oxfam. The efforts of the Community Council are greatly appreciated by the entire student body, as they look forward to another successful year led by President Jen Wynn.

Dial Editors

The Dial, the school newspaper, enjoyed an extremely successful year. By publishing more issues than in the previous year, the Dial's 1983-84 editors and staff did a thorough job in reporting on Hackley's news, sports, and other events.

Chorus

The Hackley Chorus had two successful concerts this year, led by Ms. Victoria Harrell. Spirits at the beginning of the season were low and no one was enjoying the music that had been chosen; everyone wanted to sing a new song. But as the year progressed and the chorus "developed," they started to enjoy their new-found freedom. The corpus of work they sang grew, and so did their spirits. They felt that the mix between "pop," traditional and classical music was more satisfactory than in prior years. A 40% increase in the size of the chorus helped to make it a good season and it is hoped that the chorus will keep growing for an even better season next year.

L to R, 1st Row: J. Unger, R. Wingate, J. Kim, M. VanEkris, K. Larson, S. Oschler. 2nd Row: E. Oliver, M. Lukas, L. Trostler, H. Zimmerman, T. Anglero, C. Laguza, D. Britton, J. Williams, J. Wynn, E. This year's Drama Club, once again led by Mr. Phillips, replaced the usual full-length drama with five one-act plays: The Sunshine Boys, an excerpt from Our Town, To Bobolink For Her Spirit, Blind Date, 'Dentity Crisis, and The Lottery. Some were more successful than others, but all the Players and the audience seemed to enjoy themselves. Fortunately, these were the last performances to be given in Goodhue Hall, where the acoustics were not always the best. Where the next performances will be held remains a mystery, but the Hackley Drama Club intends to press on.

The Varsity "H" is formed by choosing the school's top athletes. These athletes are judged by the amount of varsity letters and excellence in more than one sport. The Varsity "H" has kept the school spirit going by running pep rallies and raising money to provide banners which are hung in the gym.

Model United Nations

This year's Model U.N. went on three trips, Harvard, Yale and Georgetown. They were led by their inspiration and guide, Mr. Schneller. They represented several countries, such as Australia, Togo, and Katar. They engaged in diplomatic discussions and at times heated debates with students from all over the country, representing other countries. The trips were very enjoyable as the students met many new people and learned much about the workings of the United Nations.

Chess Club

After three years of unorganized play, the Hackley chess team, through the leadership of captain Takao Hensch and faculty advisor, Mr. Mitton, developed a computerized ladder and organized matches with local schools. The new ranking system drew the largest number of members ever, 36. In their first match, Rye Country Day School fell victim to the chess ability of Hensch, Bhargava, Ploumis, Paris, Halpern, Perlman, Rizvi, and Kirby. Hackley won 6, lost 1, and tied 1 of the 8 matches. Next, the Hackley faculty, fearing the team's skill, was able to present only 4 opponents in the student-faculty chess match. The chess team won 3 and lost 1 of the 4 matches. Despite the return of last year's top player David D'Adamo, Hackley was unable to ward off Scarsdale High, losing 5 to 3. Two more matches, scheduled in April, will most likely give the team an overall record of 4-1.

One of Hackley's smallest activities, the Olympics of the Mind team, has perenially been one of Hackley's most successful clubs. Under the auspices of faculty advisor Dr. Paul Szabo and leadership of captain Takao Hensch, the team participated in all 4 of the local tournaments. Hackley, the only private school represented in the Westchester regionals, received the most medals. While the other 11 public schools received at best only one award, Hackley received first in the Mousemobile, third in the Chariots of Rescue, second in the Moby Dick, and second in the Strategy Structure competitions. The first place finish in the Mousemobile competition gave Hackley a berth in the state finals. Unfortunately, the predominantly junior team met with a conflict between SATs and the State Championships, and Hackley had to withdraw under protest. In any event, both "Doc" Szabo and Hensch feel that the team made its most impressive showing ever and each of the record-high 26 members is worthy of commendation on a job well done.

Student Teaching

Student teaching involves personal interaction between the student teacher and the lower school student. These "teachers" dedicate their free time to helping the lower school students. Each year they organize a Halloween costume party, along with other activities, for these young students to enjoy.

Computer Team

A fairly new team at Hackley, owing to the novelty of its subject, the Hackley Computer Team participates in the American Computer Science League. With the donation of 15 IBM PC's, the team has had great opportunities to practice. The team members take a multiple choice and programming test once a month, and their scores are cumulated. Students who maintain a certain score go on to the finals in Long Island in June. This year's team has grown slightly over last year's, and it is expected that Tuchman and Biavati will go to Long Island. Dr. Williams is very pleased with Hackley's performance, which proves IBM's appraisal of Hackley's computer curriculum as "one of the best in the nation" to be true.

Octet

In the second year of its resurrection, the expanded Hackley Octet continued to enliven morning assemblies and the hallways with their close harmonies. In addition to entertaining the Middle School and the Mothers' Association, they provided the entertainment for the Senior-Parent Dinner, proving once again that "The Old Songs" are best.

One of the most obscure clubs at Hackley, as proven by its low 10 person membership, is the Hackley Math Team. The team annually takes part in the New York Mathematics League, and has had a history of good performances. This year was no exception. Team members Miller, Gerber, Tuchman, Biavati, Moqtaderi, Bhargava, and Hensch scored well on many of the tests. Captains Takao Hensch and Mike Tuchman, as well as faculty advisor Dr. Williams, however, hope that next year's team will not only participate in the mathematics league, but also challenge local schools and attempt individualized problem-solving.

The Spring Trip to the Soviet Union

A trip behind the iron curtain is not just an ordinary vacation, it is an excursion which has profound effects on the way one views the smallest aspects of everyday life. The Hackley spring trip to the U.S.S.R. consisted of Gerald Berton, Stephen Moller, Lisa Fink, Andrew Lauren, Mr. Gibbon, and Mr. Tcherkoff. The trip began on March 18, when we arrived on the Soviet city of Leningrad (St. Petersburg). While in Leningrad our group toured such sights as the famous Hermitage museum, the magnificent St. Isaac's cathedral, Peter and Paul fortress, and Katherine palace.

Next, we were off to Kiev, the capitol of the Ukraine. Despite the fact that Kiev was the Southernmost city on the trip, it was snowing upon our arrival. Kiev, too, held many fascinating sights (The monastery of the Caves, St. Sophia's Cathedral, and St. Wladimir's Cathedral to name a few) along with a slightly diversified culture to that of central Russia. After a two and a half day stay in Kiev we were off to Moscow to explore sights such as The Kremlin, the monastery at Zargorsk, Red Square, St. Basil's cathedral, and much more. In addition, we got a good feeling of the lifestyle in Russia's largest city.

After eleven days in the Soviet Union it was time to head home. A one day stop in Helsinki, Finland, allowed us to get a brief tour of the enchanting Finnish city. The stop also allowed us to readjust to life in the free world. Upon completion of a seven hour flight, our group arrived back in the U.S.A., having traveled nearly 20,000 miles and acquiring incredible memories of a fantastic experience.

France in the Spring

The Dukehart's annual spring trip abroad took on a different twist this year. The eight students packed their bags just as they had in years past, only this year they headed off to France instead of England. For two weeks they roamed the French countryside seeing everything from chateaux and abbeys to vineyards and museums. After touring the Loire valley and Normandy for ten days, the group boarded the van and headed off to Paris. During their four days in Paris, the students and the Dukeharts had free time to explore the city and all it had to offer. The group finally caught its breath on the plane ride back to New York. It was an exciting experience not soon to be forgotten.

Spring Trip to Austria

This year the Szabos led another successful trip to Austria. All eight participants — Mark Jordan, Chris Laguzza, Michael Luney, Dennis Mehiel, Zarmik Maqtaderi, Adam Stern, Haleh Tavakol and Mandy Tavakol — agreed that this was a "great trip." The group spent the first nine of the fourteen days skiing at the Olympic site at Innsbrook. The remaining five days were spent sight-seeing in Vienna and Salsburg.

During the evenings, the group was free to roam the cities of Austria. Their nighttime activities included sight-seeing, shopping, sampling various Austrian cuisine, and as one participant stated "chasing every Tom, Dick and Wolfgang in sight". The trip to Austria promises to be "a perennial favorite at Hackley."
